Health New England offers $100,000 in DEIB grants to address mental health and Opioid Epidemic

SPRINGFIELD -- Health New England will award grants totaling $100,000 to eligible non-profit organizations with programs that work to address mental health and the opioid epidemic in Western Massachusetts. The programs must address health equity and at least one social determinant of health and focus on Health New England's service area including Berkshire, Franklin, Hampden, Hampshire, and Worcester counties.

One in five adults in Health New England's service area experience depression, according to the company's Community Health Needs Assessment. Despite some signs of improvement, the opioid crisis has grown in the last several years. For instance, in 2020 Hampden County experienced the highest rate of Emergency Medical Service calls related to opioid overdoses of any county in the state, the assessment reports.

"The mental health crisis and opioid use disorder have hit our home counties hard, and the impact of health and societal inequities in these cases is undeniable," said Richard Swift, president and CEO of Health New England. "It is our hope that these grants help remove barriers under-resourced communities face to allow residents to enjoy better mental health and avoid or recover from opioid addiction so they may thrive."

Social Determinants of Health include:

- Built environment (includes transportation, access to healthy foods)
- Education
- Employment
- Housing
- Social environment (social isolation, institutional racism)

Violence and trauma

IRS-designated 501(c)(3) non-profit organizations that manage innovative community-based programs benefiting underserved residents may apply for Health New England DEIB grants through September 11, 2023.

In its fourth year, the Health New England DEIB grants program has awarded nearly $340,000 to local non-profits addressing health equity in Western Massachusetts.

How to Apply

Completed grant applications are due by 11:59 p.m. on September 11, 2023. Only complete submissions made online will be considered. Non-profit organizations will only be eligible for Health New England community benefit funding once per calendar year. Apply here: <https://form.jotform.com/203005404536039>.

Staying safe and emotionally healthy during out-of-school time

HOLYOKE – It is that time of year when school vacation hands students a stretch of free time welcomed by most, but less so perhaps by parents as it raises the question: How do working parents and other caregivers with demanding schedules ensure children stay emotionally healthy and safe during a long break from school?

Dr. Negar Beheshti, a board-certified adult, child and adolescent psychiatrist and Chief Medical Officer for Holyoke-based MiraVista Behavioral Health Center and sister hospital, TaraVista Behavioral Health Center in Devens, recommends a balance of structured fun and learning. She recommends as well that primary care givers do "their due diligence" to keep everyone engaged in safe behavior that supports mental health.

Conversations around behavior and activities, she adds, should be age-appropriate.

"For example, children in elementary school may be doing a lot of summer camp activities and this is an opportunity to talk to them about appropriate behavior with other peers at the camp," Beheshti said. "When you get to the tweens, they may not want the regular, structured routine of summer camp. However, it is still good to do some type of structured program as it gives middle-schoolers the opportunity to continue social development and promotes new learning opportunities.

Some school districts offer enriched learning programming at least part of the day that holds the potential to explore something new in a fun way."

High school, she adds, "brings a little more autonomy for teenagers, and the need for more candid discussions on dating and substance use, including that the minimum legal age for buying, transporting or drinking alcoholic beverages is 21."

"There is value for a teen who is old enough to look for a job," Beheshti notes. "It gives the ability to have more autonomy, cash to spend and save, and is a good use of their free time."

College students, she said, may be told that they "are coming back home as adults and you will hold them to that standard in terms of their personal habits around the house."

She recommends parents know other parents and caregivers involved in a young person's activities as well as friends.

Other tips and recommendations for a safe and enjoyable summer break for young people from Beheshti, including what routines should be maintained, how to approach a difficult topic, including a change in normal behavior, and support available to a child questioning their sexual orientation or gender identity, can be found at <https://www.miravistabhcare.com/staying-emotionally-healthy-during-school-break/>

Community Newspaper EDITOR WANTED

Turley Publications is looking for a "hands on" energetic candidate who loves telling stories to be the editor for two weekly publications. This position will include managing and coaching a small news staff that will provide the community with a great local newspaper.

The editor will need to cover local government and events while representing the newspaper at public venues.

The successful candidate will have strong community journalism skills and is also expected to gather news and write stories for the two papers as well as for other occasional companywide publications.

This is a job for a self-starter who has a vision for growing and connecting with our valued readers, and who thoroughly enjoys community journalism.

This full-time position with flexible schedule is based in our Palmer office at 24 Water St., this is not a remote position.

Qualifications should include:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience
- Willingness to mentor a staff writer and correspondents
- Editing experience and ability to write clean copy in a fast-paced, deadline-driven environment
- Proficiency in Associated Press style
- Management experience and/or experience managing content for a print publication.
