Massachusetts launches free community college program for residents 25 plus

WELLESLEY— Holyoke Community College President George Timmons joined Gov. Maura T. Healey today to launch MassReconnect, the administration's new program establishing free community college for Massachusetts residents aged 25 and older.

The announcement event, held this morning at MassBay Community College, was attended by representatives from the Healey administration and Department of Higher Education, as well as the presidents of the state's 15 community colleges.

"MassReconnect will be transformative for thousands of students, for our amazing community colleges, and for our economy," Healey said. "It will bolster the role of community colleges as economic drivers in our state and help us better meet the needs of businesses to find qualified, well-trained workers. We can also make progress in breaking cycles of inter-generational poverty by helping residents complete their higher education credentials so they can attain good jobs and build a career path. Our administration is grateful for the partnership of the Legislature to move forward on this critical program that will make our state more affordable, competitive and equitable."

The state is investing $20 million in MassReconnect for the first year of implementation. The funding covers the full cost of tuition and fees and includes an allowance for books and supplies for qualifying students. Additionally, each community college will receive $100,000 to support student and community program awareness, staffing, and program administration.

"This is an exciting moment for HCC and all Massachusetts community colleges," said Holyoke Community College President George Timmons. "Our college's financial aid and student affairs teams have been working diligently to prepare for MassReconnect and to guide students through the process of enrolling at HCC. MassReconnect will enable our community colleges to do more of what we do best, which is serve students from all ages and all backgrounds, and provide them with an exceptional education that leads to employment and, ultimately, a stronger economy and thriving region."

MassReconnect starts immediately. There is still time for students to enroll for the fall 2023 semester. Qualifying students must be enrolled in at least six credits per semester in an approved program of study leading to an associate degree or certificate at one of the Commonwealth's 15 community colleges and complete the 2023-2024 FAFSA. There is no deadline to sign up.

Fall semester I classes at HCC begin Tuesday, Sept. 5, but there are also two additional flexible fall start dates, on Sept. 25 and Oct. 30.

For more information about MassReconnect at HCC, please go to: hcc.edu/massreconnect.

To qualify for MassReconnect, students must be 25 or older on the first day of their classes and be a permanent Massachusetts resident for at least one year at the start of the enrolled term. The program is limited to residents who have not previously earned a college degree (associates or bachelor's) who enroll in at least six credits per semester in an approved program of study leading to an associate degree or certificate at a community college.

"They're always trying to engage the students, different clubs," Steve Lynch said. "You just have to get out and do stuff and that's how you're going to meet people."

"I think he also learned that he had to self-advocate for himself with his professors. He came home more independent than he was when he left, so that was nice to see," Jennifer Lynch said.

For Declan, he's looking forward to his second year on the basketball team and returning to class. He chose the college for its community feel.

"It has the close tight-knit community, so it's helpful when you know everyone there so you can always rest on somebody's shoulders if you need to," he said.

He wants the community to know he enjoys his time at Elms so far and looks forward to the new semester.

"It's a very positive experience and Elms gives a lot of experience. There's a lot of experience in the staff and what they give you, a lot of it you can use in your life," he said.

Desmond Nigol-Mason, a senior transfer student, was moving into his dorm with help from family and his fiancée, Chloe Poles.

Nigol-Mason encouraged people to "go for it" in attending college.

"A lot of people coming out of high school don't know what they want to do, if they want to go to college or if they want to start into work. Personally, I was on the edge about that as well and I went to college and I loved it," Nigol-Mason said.

Nigol-Mason appreciates the support from Poles and his family on move-in day.

"It means a lot to have their help with everything, not only just moving in but support in all that," Nigol-Mason said.

Claire Wright, director of student engagement and leadership, is excited about working with the students this semester.

"It's the start of a new year. It signifies a new beginning. It gives you an opportunity to see your returning students that you saw in April and May and you haven't seen for the summer and it gives you an opportunity to meet the incoming class and see what the future of the institution is going to look like," Wright said.

Durnay encouraged students to enjoy their college experience as "it goes by before they know it" and to know the faculty, staff and administration are here to support them.

"I encourage them to enjoy every moment of it," Durnay said.
