aged, or before kindergarten.

These vision screenings draft a detailed report which would be provided for the family's eye care professional.

Markow can make recommendations to get eyes checked by an eye care professional if they detect any failed screenings.

If failed, they can recommend tests for nearsightedness, farsightedness, astigmatism, muscle imbalance or unequal pupil sizes.

With these vision screenings, these volunteers at the Granby Lions Club are able to catch any early vision problems children may have at a young age. Markow said vision is 90% of learning and conducting these screenings is important in catching any vision problems at an early age.

Throughout the country, the Lions also offer screenings for adults.

This year, Granby Lions visited seven preschools this year in both towns.

In 2024, nine sites were visited and 187 children were screened. 10 children were referred for an approximately 5% referral rate. In 2025, eight sites were visited and 207 children were screened. 10 children were referred for an approximately 5% referral rate.

Markow said typical screenings have a 5-10% referral rate.

Conducting these screenings is a volunteer effort thanks to the Lions Clubs including the Granby Lions.

The Granby Lions have received letters and positive feedback from these facilities about how this service they provide is helpful.
